THE ACADEMY HERALD 1972

The Academy Herald

Dedication

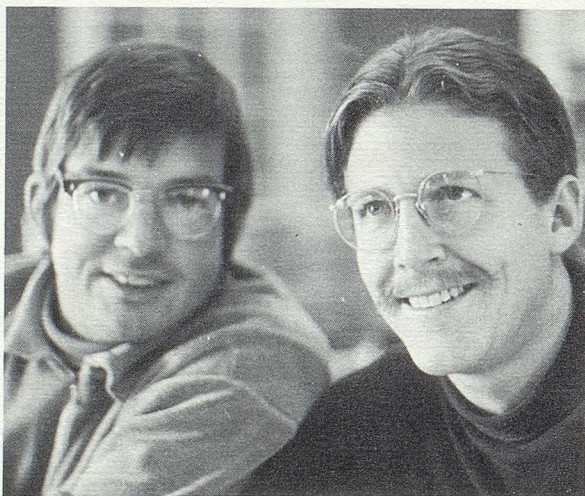

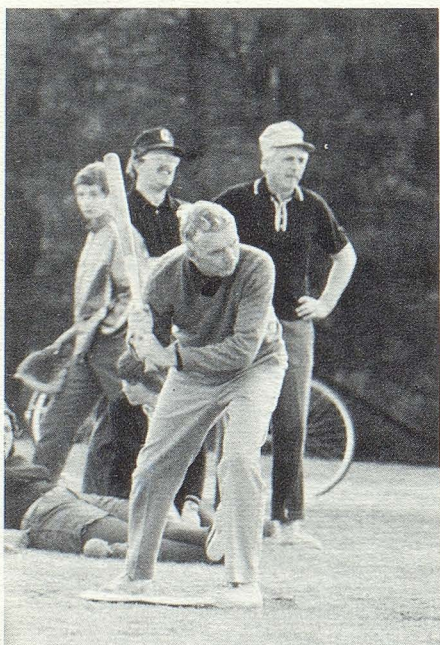

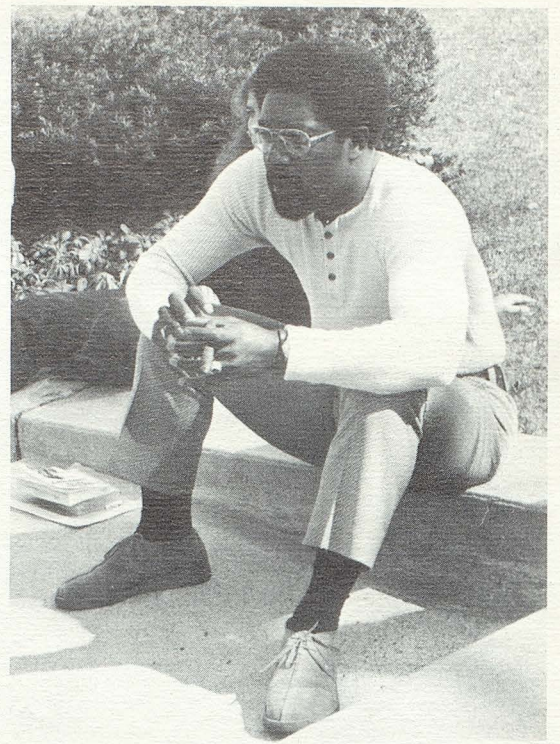

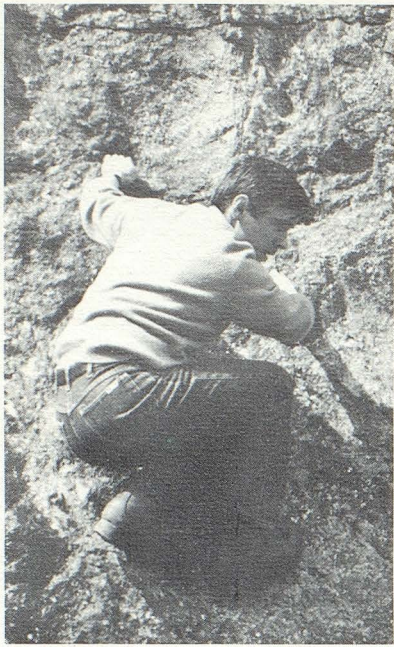

It's difficult to thank a man who has intertwined thirty-four years of his life with the lives of several generations, exemplifying wisdom and humaneness, as well as brilliance in mathematics, consequently giving all who know him a dynamic perspective on life. The graduating class of 1972 dedicates the 86th edition of The Academy Herald to Mr. George Bowhay with appreciation, in hopes that it will convey to him our respect and love.

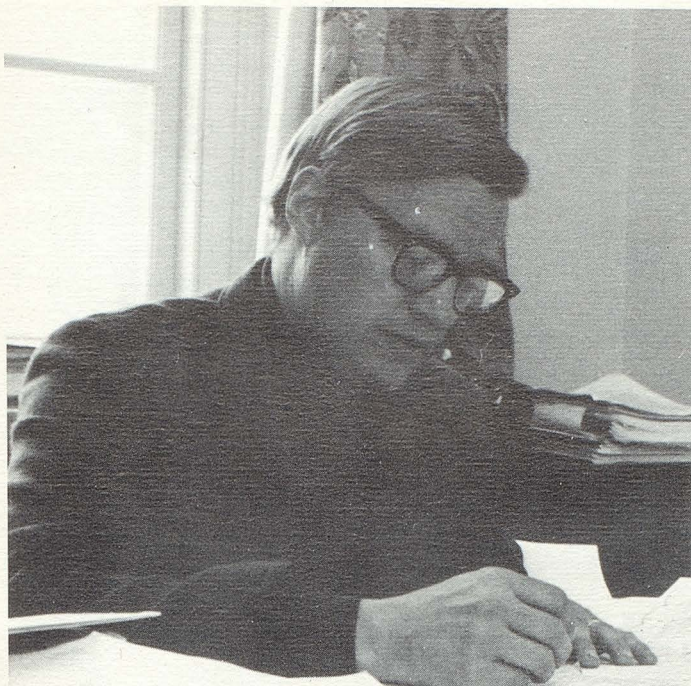

George Bowhay

Holden Hall

It's a typical Thursday night in Holden Hall. We're all sitting down around the front steps waiting for "Bunk." Bunk comes down the walk with his box of bananas. Scooter, Robinson, and Hawk ask Bunk "Where's your brother?" He says, "I don't know. Why don't you ask Hayden?" We would except Hayden is bumming out in his room, so we go into the TV room and ask Joey, Williams, and Jenkins, who are waiting for the next "Gilligan's Island" show to come on, but they are too busy and say ask Steel-finger, who is wrestling with Rick Hall. We walk out of the TV room and see Helfer going into Simm's room to watch Cleve freak out on the headphones. Skip comes to his door asking what's all the noise about and we give him one of Altgelt's cigarettes and he stomps back into his room dejected. So we ask Sam, who is cleaning his room, where Kaelber is. He is in the empty pool room looking disgusted. We find Gregory teaching Jenness the finer points of bicycling while Spadone awaits his nightly visit by Succubus. We try to ask Altgelt where Bunk's brother is but between his bouncing the ball and Comins playing the guitar, we can't hear their reply.

Upstairs we find Meyers, Gorbach, and Mono-man engrossed in a game of Fish. Crosby, Stills, and Nash is coming from Barr and Augusta's room and we decide not to intrude. Schreiber is too busy hunting for his baseball uniform and Ash is desperately trying to sell very used skis. We hear a voice from the bathroom and find Kratz flying out the window with Stunzi and DesRoches cheering him on. From behind locked doors, Rieser is attacking his typewriter while Henderson is complaining of the noise. We check in at Room 16 but Lester has checked out in his car again for another weekend.

Downstairs Henry and Terrio are racing around the incinerator room on their bikes. We see a flash go by and learn that Pete Wehe has just found out his cast is off and runs to tell Muscles Mitch about it. Steve Winter is busy sorting basketballs in the laundry room and is of no use. We intercept Weir on his checks of the butt room. Doughnut is running out of his apartment and wondering who's asleep in his tent in the lounge. It turns out to be Scooter, who has passed out in front of the tube again. We go back to find Bunk, who is at the back door by now and tell him that we're sorry we can't find his brother and for him not to forget the ice cream cones next trip through. Bunk scratches his head and mumbles something about a Black Booger as he leaves.

Davidson Hall - Girls

Hi! Another weekend with Madame. We all found out Thursday night she was on duty—too late to take weekends! Alain is trying to find Andi von Parpart to see if she has any extra body parts for his new dragster. The butt room is empty so he's looking himself.

He just walked into Sharon's room and tripped over a rope. "Sam!?! This brings Audrey out of her room, lecturing about security rules. Elizabeth wakes up and quotes her mother, "Be-ware of boys, booze, and drugs." Alain splits.

He knocks at the next room. With a "Who in hell is it?" Tuttle opens the door. He peeks in to find Butler, Church, Stuart, Carla, and Sully playing bizz buzz. Tuttle informs him that he can't enter without an ID and slams the door.

Emil and Gidley are asleep in 229 and Alain can't even get them to come to the door.

On the stairway, Margo, Larry, Jeannie, Animal, Andrea, and Paul are coming down. They don't know where Andi is, but then they don't know where anything is in their state.

On second floor, he is overcome by the smell of popcorn and incense. (Incense?) Hearing a loud whistle, he enters a room to find Angela leaning out the window, talking to Jack. Gela turns around and, seeing Alain, screams for Wendy but she and Thibodeau were last seen on bikes heading toward Citgo to do their laundry. Alain backs out and tries the next door. No answer. Monk is at the Sudbury, naturally.

He proceeds to another suite to find Lisa P. doing a ballet. She yells and Gallie springs out of her room and starts practicing the defense techniques she used on Janice. Poor Alain, another quick exit.

Only three rooms left. He walks in on a heavy card game between Sarie, Lo, Stoner, and Allen. They don't even notice him. Stephanie is out on the roof watching all the boys, watching all the boys go by (and Vikki and Mark at the back door of the boys' dorm).

He goes on to Andi's room, but no Andi. Instead he finds Karen jumping up and down on a big balloon and Leslie screaming at Jeannie and the others to wait up. Lisa Reed has worked hard today trying to please her audience at the softball game and now relaxes with a cigarette. She still hasn't learned to inhale.

His last hope lies in Smitty's room, but . . . ! Kathy opens the door, takes one look and runs back to Isabel and the macaroni. Smitty and Melissa are getting ready for the movie in the other room. Alain tries to see who it is and gets his nose broken when the door is shut in his face. That'll teach him to mess with Irishmen!!

He gives up and returns to seek consolation from mommy. Ho! Ho! Ho! Behold Andi and Madame rapping over coffee! She didn't have any parts anyway.

—Smitty, Wendy Ault, Angela Pendleton '72

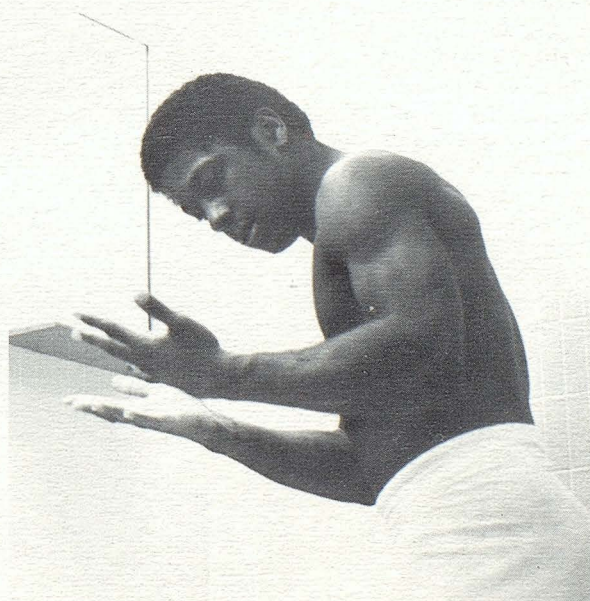

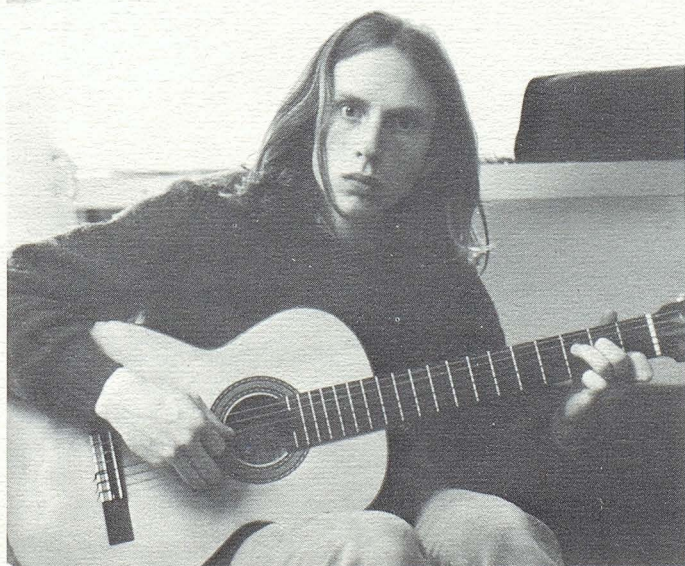

Gomer's Pyle

It's 0200 (2:00 a.m.) here at the Davidson barracks, when suddenly Sargeant Newell decides to pull a surprise inspection. He's prepared for action, white gloves and all, and starts down the hall toward Big E and T's pad. As he enters he encounters a roof-raising game of spades with a blaring stereo and the outbursts of Marty and Keay. Suddenly, the Sarge thinks he hears a gunshot and charges to the third floor and beats on the door of the room of the boys. Ross comes to the door and opens it slowly. Sarge busts in and stumbles over a pile of debris on the floor. He gets up and hands Rick and Walter a shovel and tells them to get rid of the pile. Then he goes into Mattis and McArdle's room and mutters a few words about the abortion. As he walks out, he slips on a slew of banana peels. Palange just finished his early morning snack. He picks himself up and wheels into Shaw's bicycle shop, finding the junior proctor with a clean room. A giggle emerges from the next room where he finds Templeton and Jackman and only one unmade bed. Finally, he manages to work his way to the second floor where he sees Hunt standing in the hall repeating "Come into my spaceship," so he rushes into the room and discovers Scott and Siegelman discussing the appearance of their hair. Sarge goes to the Big K's room but knows better than to pursue the strange noise within. The next room to inspect is the former proctor's room. He unlocks the door, but the door fails to open. Sarge is hollering, "Open this door; open this door," but Cummings just screams out, "But, Sarge, it's only incense!" The slamming of a door and the pounding of footsteps brings the Sarge back to the first floor, where he is run down by Pratt, who is having a nightmare and screaming something about snow-cats. He leads Chris back to his room and upon entering trips over an empty case of Eltoro's and tells White to turn down his stereo so the dorm can go to sleep. When he goes back out into the hallway, he hears a thumping noise coming from Cruz's room. He listens intently, opens the door quietly, and sees Roland sitting on the edge of his bed bouncing a basketball off the wall. The last suite to be inspected includes the room of the famous cross-country skier from Norway and his roommate the famous photographer from the sunshine state. Trygve is lying on his bed reading Playboy, only because the Playmate of the year is Norwegian while Getz is trying to get a couple of close-ups. Next door Shugrue comes barging out of his room, trying to get away from a haunting off-beat drum roll. The Sarge doesn't bother to enter the room of Thomas and Maclin because they haven't been seen for some time; but rumor has it that they still live here. There are only two more recruits to be confronted by the Sarge, and one is Jaeger, graduate of the Class of 1977. The other is Emil, who has been around for a while. When Sargeant Newell enters Winter's room, all he hears is Neil trying to talk Emil out of going to Gidley's room so he can discuss the matters of the day that have gone up in smoke.

It's been another black glove night here in the barracks and the Sergeant gives a sigh of relief as he heads back to his quarters, knowing that everything is in top shape.

T-Byrd

Who knows what evil lurks in men's hearts? Nick "Danger" Litchfield knows and he's off again on another terrifying adventure, the one Nick calls "The Case of the Unscrupulous Usurpers."

It all began one dark rainy night at the infamous abode called the Thunderbird Motel where, behind every door and shadow, creeps mystery and strange odors. A group of the inhabitants of this wretched place were down at Nick's front door begging for a handout. Tricky Nick just informed them that if they didn't leave, he wouldn't take them Christmas caroling next year and that he would set his wild attack dog Nuki upon the wretches. Fleeing in disgust and calling livid names behind them, the students retreated to their modern de luxe cubicles to contemplate other ways of obtaining food. Jack Milligan thought of blasting him out with his huge amps only he couldn't stand the noise himself.

Stevens and Allen, that great comedy team, thought that stealing "Coach" Litchfield's barbells would do the trick only Nick had his wife and personal secretary Nancy hide them in Mr. Owen's apartment.

But what is this? It looks like that prankster has given in and will hold a Thunderbird "special," commonly known as a dorm party. Little do the students know that the food they will be given is leftover Saga lunch. What treachery!

As the inhabitants file past, a rigid inspection takes place as Nuki sniffs. Nick spots Chummy Bean and Beth Gallie fleeing Ken Wright's room. Charlie Ault said he had no part in the matter and not to include his name so I'm not. Nick publicly humiliated Ken by forcing him to "loan" something to Jim Austin.

Yes, once again they come, hungry for those famous Saga treats. Keith Freeman comes dragging his alligator and Charles Ewing is saying how he'd rather stay in his room and watch his own television. Uh, oh, Nick better investigate that.

So sorry, Larry, you can't bring Margo, another case yet unsolved. How hard it is to run a dormitory where the boys just don't understand you. Right, Nick?

While Jim Austin was off borrowing something, Matt Stowell and Stew Epstein decided to skip the dorm party and talk to Stewart's plants. Keep it up, men.

All the rest of the dorm was relaxing in Nick's "pad" getting into "Night Gallery." Bruce Guyon had to leave because the girls weren't so good looking. Don't worry, Steve McDevitt and Brian Blake will show you full color photos of Dereck Sanderson; he's pretty good looking.

The tired boys headed back to their rooms and so ended another exciting evening at dear old T-Byrd; and, as the late lights flicker off and the last Lp stops on the turntable, we bid adieu. Nick Litchfield knows!

The men from Gould Academy arrived on Sept. 10 for their first practice under the fine head coaching of Mr. Feeney and his assistants, Cousins, Berry, and Hurd.. The team practiced two hard weeks before their first game.

The first game was at Boothbay Regional High School. The team showed its initial weaknesses, but a hard-driving offense led by Matt Stevens and a strong defense came out with a 12-6 victory. In the next two games Gould fell to defeat at the hands of Fryeburg and Holderness. The boys hustled but were just out-jocked.

In many respects the best game played was against our Prep rivals, Kents Hill. The team played a beautiful game on both offense and defense. At the end of the game the score was 36-0 in favor of Gould.

Our third and final defeat came at the hands of Maine Central Institute on Parents' Day. It was a well-fought battle all the way to the end with M.C.I. winning 21-20.

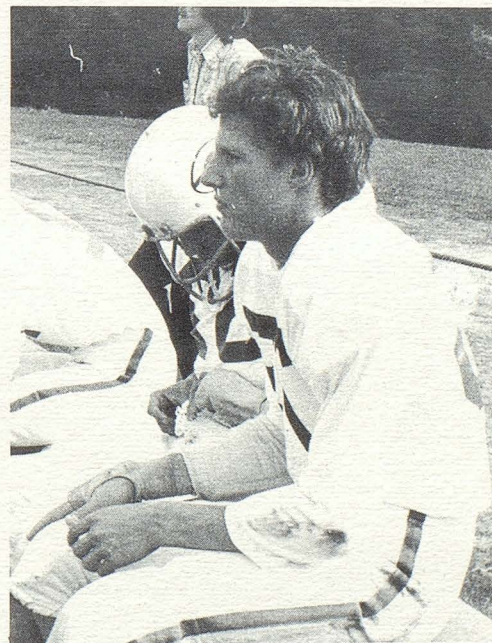

We ended the season at home with Dixfield. The game ended in a tie 8-8, but in many respects Gould won.

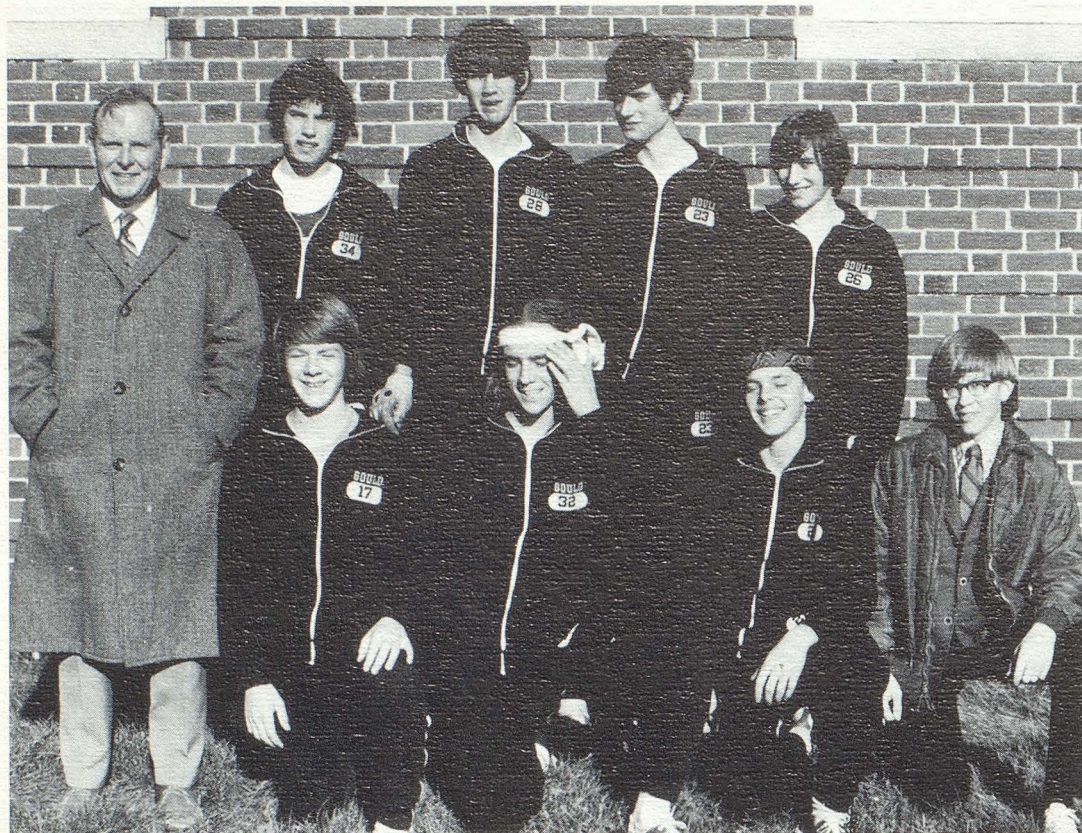

There is always time to give recognition to the whole team which did a beautiful job, but we cannot omit mentioning our co-captains Emil Winter and Greg Frazier, the outstanding passing by Matt Stevens, who threw for 9 touchdowns, and the fine receiving of Keith Freeman.

On behalf of the team we would like to thank Coach Feeney, Coach Cousins, Coach Berry, and part-time Coach Hurd.

Not just a good year, but a great one. Mr. Vogt got a State Championship trophy again to put on his mantel—after a five-year wait. After a season of hard work, running hundreds (well, it seemed that way) of 440's, next year's captain, Charlie Ault, led his team by taking second place at the State meet at Hebron. Only the week before, the team had finished third in the New Englands, even without our No. 4 man, Bill Ash, down with a cold.

This year saw the smallest squad ever, but one of the toughest. Even with only eight out for the team, we were unbeaten in regular season competition, during which in one race only six ran.

Next year will see only one man gone, Captain and Most Valuable Runner Larry Bright, who really peaked at the end of his last season, with a fourth in the State, and eighth place in the New England meet. Coming back next year will be top runner Charlie Ault, with a great future ahead of him, Dan Baxter, Bill Ash (Rookie of the Year), Rick Chandler, named the most improved runner, and Kevin Janness. Great prospects are in the offing.

Soccer

Here we are, ladies and gentlemen, at the new but inexpensive Ferguson-Jennings Memorial Stadium in Lowerfield, Maine.

It's a beautiful day; there's not a cloud in the sky. It was miserable yesterday . . . the flooded soccer field is proof enough of that.

Well, it looks like we're just about ready to start . . . oops! That was the kick-off but a little bit early . . . the referees aren't here yet and—oh, there they are. The game hasn't really got underway yet but the ref has already called "ungentlemanly conduct" on Florence, the center halfback from Gould.

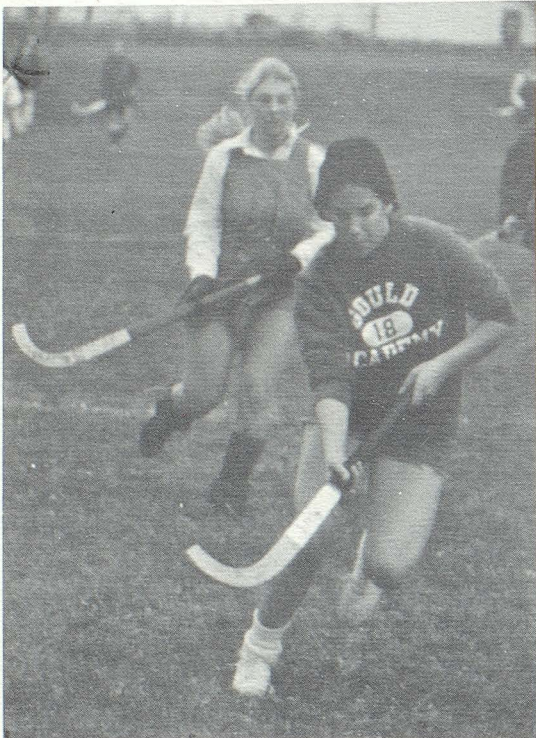

There's the whistle and there's the kick-off! Jaeger's laughing at St. Dom's left fullback, who just fell in the mud; and here comes Altgelt from the defensive end of the field to try to do something offensive with the ball, but to no avail. St. Dom's carried the ball all the way down the field (right past Fletcher, who is busy looking for his headband at mid-field. Good luck, Sam!) and scored on Goalie Peter Meyers, who was busy taking pictures of the left fullback, Austin, who was playing in the puddle at the lower left end of the field. Now Jaeger is slowly stumbling his way back up the field, stopping here and there to say hello to a friend. He makes a quick pass to Mike Myers (rover) who kicks the opposing team rather than the ball and scores!

Now, we're into the last quarter with only one goal for Gould and fifteen for St. Dom's. In a state of frenzy, Newell quickly substitutes Kliman in for Spadone (who lost his shoelace) and Ken Wright for Clough . . . Well, there goes the game! Throughout it all Coach Newell has been yelling at the fans and has been mumbling, for the last few days, something about "Next year, next year," . . . and indeed! . . . better luck next year, Team! (Rumor has it that we might even get real soccer uniforms!

Field Hockey

Well, we finally made it. Our record (6-2-2) is the best in the league, tied only by Kents Hill. Lisa Reed and Tib led the way with four and three goals respectively. Richie sneaked one in against Telstar. (I thought she played defense!) Missy, Andrea, Lisa, Tib, and Cindy showed what real teamwork in a forward line is with good passing, often keeping the ball at the opponents' goal most of the game. Behind them was a solid line of halfbacks: Kathy Stone, Richie Poor, and Kristin. Smitty and Sarah were fullbacks with Sarah saving the day many times if and when the other team could get that close. Last but far from least was Robin Church, the goalie. From the looks of our record, she must have been one of the best in the league.

There were many firsts this year: the varsity team beating Fryeburg and Kents Hill, being champs. The JV's showed real strength too. We couldn't have expected less, considering who played. Molly Matthews and Linda Ault, both JV starters, played at least two positions each this season. The line was Nancy Wagner, Beth, Loe, Abby, and Robin Clark. Loe, Molly, and Nancy all scored. The experience and good hard playing of Wendell, Stolly, and Linda Bunker helped keep opposing teams' scores at zero or one. Grace Warner showed real talent in the goalie department. Lori D'Agincourt, Sally Rothery, Michelle Dionne, and Sue Gregg strengthened the JV defense even more as subs and played halfback, fullback, and goalie respectively.

Our manager couldn't have been better. Gela sympathized with our aches and pains, got oranges, cheered us on, and shared blankets at the end of the season when we were cold.

Finally, thanks to Mrs. Feeney for organizing the team. Guess we showed them this year, huh, Coach?

Boys' Basketball

At first, the 1971 basketball season was to be a building year for the Gould Huskies. But, before you knew it, Gould was among the leading teams in the league. Coach Hurd's team, led by high scoring Captain Milligan, exploded in a flurry of victories. Compiling the longest winning streak and the best overall season record in the Academy history, the team won for Gould the first Maine Prep School Championship. The cagers won the first 16 games in a row and entered the playoffs with a 16-2 record.

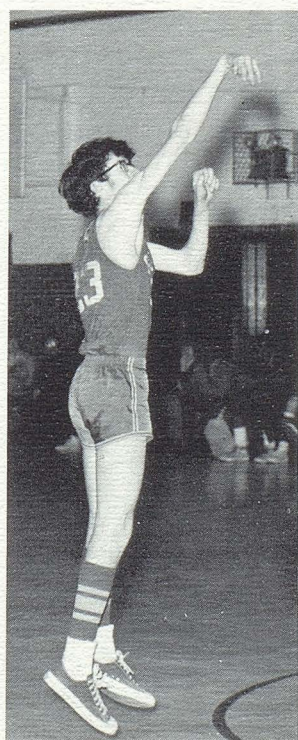

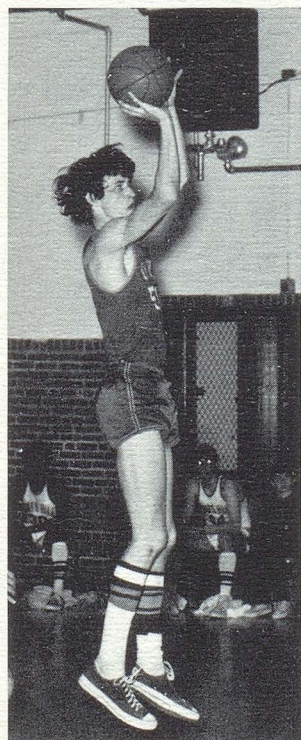

Gould began the Western Maine Class D playoffs with an impressive victory by defeating a determined Richmond team 61-52 and moved into the semi-finals against Wells. Wells proved to be one of Gould's most formidable opponents as they beat the Huskies 53-52. Although down by as much as 20 points, Gould came back to lead with 5 seconds to go in the game only to be beaten by a desperation 20-foot shot by a Wells high scoring ace.

The year was characterized by the high scoring efforts of senior Jack Milligan and Charlie Ault, the impressive rebounding of John Altgelt and Bill Hawk, and the dazzling defensive work of "Peanut" Freeman.

Only four seniors will not be back next year and, with strong, experienced back-up men like Roland Cruz, Joe Renie, Matt Stevens, and Charles Ewing, the team promises to be good again next year.

Boys' Ski Team

With the arrival of a new year after a mildly restful Christmas vacation, the boys' ski team returned to start off a reasonably successful 1972 season.

Our first meet was a one-day encounter with Edward Little and Livermore Falls. On January 9 Mr. McGuire loaded all of us into the Checker and with Captain Winter's assistance got us off, rookies and all, to Auburn for the test. Roer and Baxter received honors in the X-C and slalom respectively; however, the team as a whole was still a little rusty. Gould settled for second behind Edward Little.

The next weekend, owing to adverse skiing conditions, we were forced to cut a four-event meet with Mt. Blue to a nordics only meet. In the X-C Roer again took first with Shaw capturing third. Winter commanded the jumping. The final tabulations had Gould over Mt. Blue.

Our next meet found us at the Rumford winter carnival with five other prominent Maine teams. In the G. S. Baxter wound up third. The slalom found Ash also third with Baxter fourth. Roer was second in the X-C and Winter eighth in the jumping. Gould ended up a decent second place behind host Rumford.

Next came our annual meet with Kennett. Mt. Blue was also there as we held the tradition by beating Kennett again along with Mt. Blue. Baxter was first in the first G. S. and Jenness took fourth in the second G. S. DesRoches was third and Wiese fourth in the jumping. Roer grabbed the X-C.

After Kennett came Fryeburg which posed us little threat as we overpowered them in a nordic meet. Roer took first with DesRoches second in the X-C. In the jumping Winter was first with Cole second.

From here we started to buckle down for the big meets in February. The first annual Tri-State invitational meet at Lyndon was a three events in one day affair with five other teams from Maine, New Hampshire, and Vermont. Roer finished fourth in the G-C; Baxter took third; Ash, fifth; and Jenness eighth in the slalom. The final results left us with a third place behind Lyndon and Rumford.

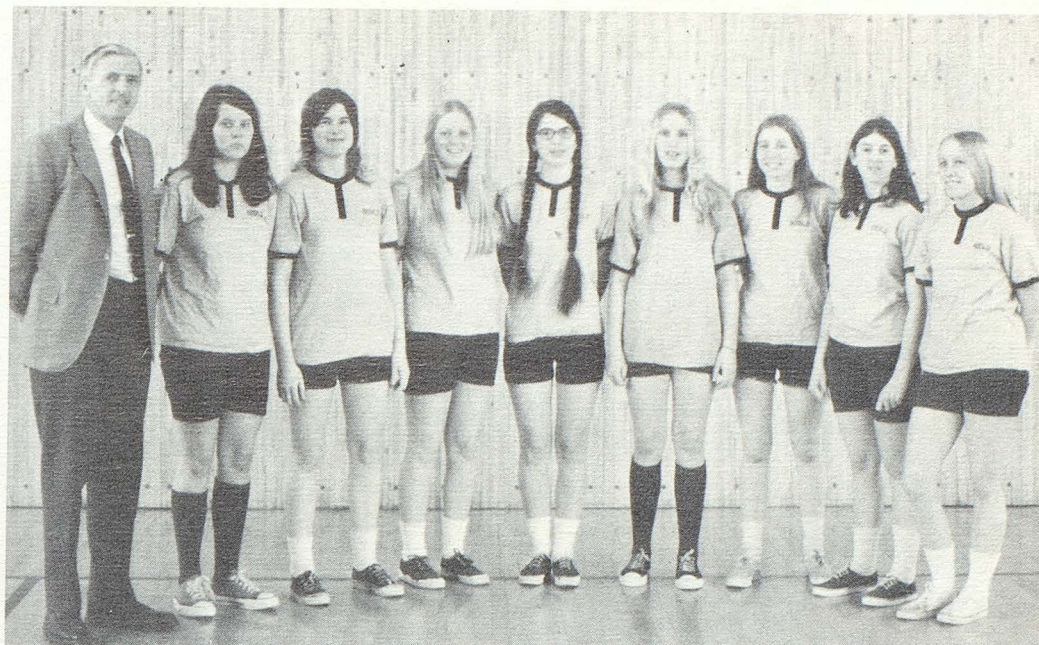

The next weekend was the State A meet with Gould as host. The alpine events were held the first day with Ash winning the slalom and Baxter taking second place in the G. S. In the jumping Winter took fifth. Roer settled for second in the X-C. We had made our bid for the title and lost it to Rumford ending up a strong second.

After the State meet we packed up for Brattleboro and the New England Inter-scholastic Meet. The meet ended up a disappointment for all of us because of a poor jumping performance. The G. S. found Dan Baxter in sixth place and Ash tied for twelfth. Baxter again did remarkably well with a third in the slalom. The jumping had Cole seventeenth and Winter eighteenth, and the X-C found Trygve Roer in second place and Winter fourteenth. Out of the nine-team field we finished a disappointing sixth.

With only a ten-man squad the ski team at Gould this year did remarkably well for its size, having to utilize the services of its four-eventers. Thanks to Mr. McGuire and all others involved. Good luck next year.

Girls' Basketball

This year's girls' basketball team may have surprised everyone when this small group of girls turned out a fine season of 8 wins and 3 losses. We lost one girl, Wendy Ault, to France during Christmas vacation, but she kept us going with her great letters. This year's team also had three other seniors: Missy Hatch, "our beloved forward"; Beth Gallie, our defensive star; and Angela Pendleton, our ready-to-go-sub. Returning next year will be three starters and two true substitutes. Leading our returnees are junior captain Molly Matthews, who averaged 22 points per game. Sophomore forward Linda Ault was everywhere she was needed and more. We have one starting guard returning, Lisa Reed. The whole team really appreciated the great bench work from Stephanie Bailey and our great "Earl the Pearl" Munroe. We would have never made it without our enjoyable coach, Mr. Berry. We look forward to seeing Mr. Berry and everyone else next year as we hope to continue our winning ways. Everyone just remember Mr. Berry's famous statement "No one can throw the basketball the length of the court."

Front: Lisa Pakulski, Andi von Parpart, Debi Butler, Cindi Kailey. Back: Pat Thibodeau, Andrea Underwood, Mr. Crosbie, Kristin Wiese, Merry Melendy.

Girls' Ski Team

Under the influence of our courageous captain, Nanny Nordic Thibodeau, the 1972 Gould Academy girls' wreck ski team had a rewarding year. We were extremely proud to win the first annual girls' New Englands. We not only skied together as a team but also proved our closeness to one another and to our opposing teams. We also won for the second consecutive year the Maine State Prep School meet hosted by Hinckley School. This was an important meet because everyone participated in insuring our victory. We finished third in the Maine State Class A meet, trailing close behind the Edward Little bombers led by the one and only Zanca and under the outstanding coaching of Mr. Harvey. Second place finishers were the Mt. Blue girls coached by the bell bottom freak himself Bullen.

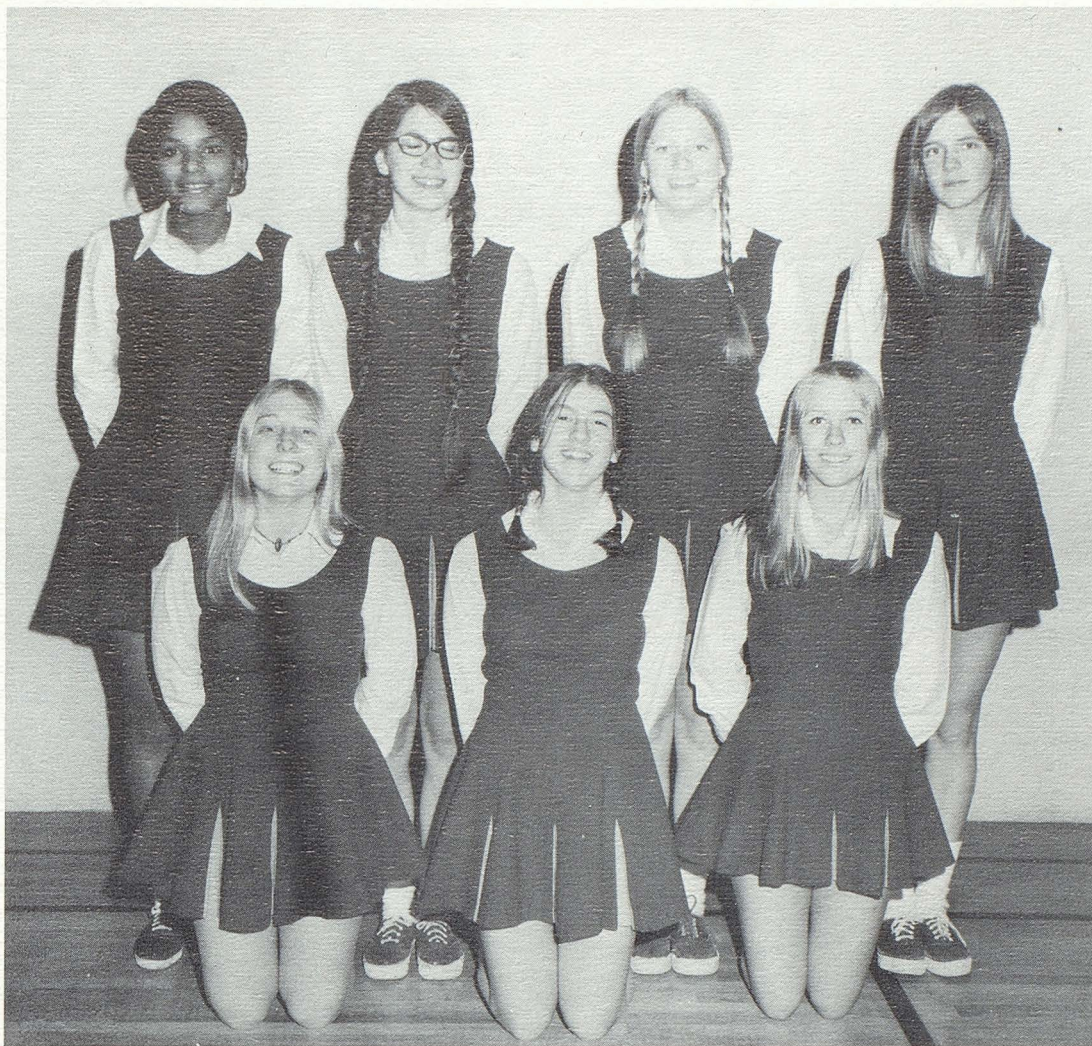

Seniors on the team consisted of Nanny Nordic, who managed to survive the constant swell of grief from her fellow team members. Next there was the second-year veteran Andrea Underweight, who remarkably finished fourth after breaking her cross country ski at Hinckley. While striding through the finish line, Underweight screamed, "I got ripped off." And thirdly our German exchange student, Andi von Parpart, who was noted for her ability to consume various amounts of food.

As for the juniors, Kristin "not going" Wiese averaged 1.051 guys per meet. Shortly behind was Little-B Butler still dreaming about the waiter at the St. Johnsbury Inn. All the girls had a "bit" to say as their ski tips crossed but the loudest was Little-B's when she bellowed "You hole" at Hinckley. Then there was Worm Kailey, who wore the ever-winning large pants of Nanny Nordic and who was also noted for frequent drop offs or calls to the University of Maine at Farmington. Last of the juniors was Lisa Pakulski, who always got her cup of tea and ordered anything but what was on the menu.

Finally there was Merry Melendy, our only sophomore, who will be long remembered for her excellence in taste for fat men at dances. Something about the blubber makes her giggle.

We are all thankful to our coaches, Mr. Crosbie and Ken Remsen. Croz should be applauded for all the grief he took.

Baseball

Without a doubt the best team we played this year was Gould Academy because they beat us most of the time. But these things will happen, especially from a team that has risen from oblivion and having to rely upon untested personnel.

Coach Newell had to face the perilous "May Projects" in trying to assemble a baseball team. Most of his players in turn were undergraduates with a few faithful seniors. As it turned out, the number of ball players fluctuated with the number of tempers and spring "activities." After the first few practices, it was obvious who the ball players were.

In true athletic competition talent really isn't essential—determination is. In that aspect Gould had very few talented players, but very many determined ones. Determination held the team together through pitifully bad games and no one player, as I could see, ever gave up hope and drive.

I believe everyone on the team knew how much time Coach Newell put into the remaking of the Gould Academy baseball team and I am most thankful to him. With only three seniors it opened up a lot of opportunity for younger players. Valuable experience was gained by everyone because everyone got a chance to play.

It is hard to describe the season mainly because it is hard to describe a circus where everything is happening. At times we could do no wrong; at others we didn't know which end of the bat to hold.

Eventually we found a pitcher, Neil Jaeger, who offered a lot of promise for the team; and when we played our first game, Neil actually pitched a fine game but because of many physical and mental errors and cold feet at the plate, Hebron bombed us

As I look back on the season, we lost many games we should have won, lost many we should have lost, and actually won one.

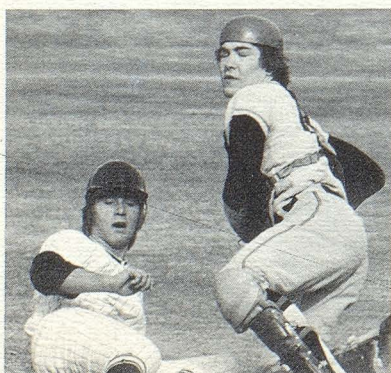

It is in vain to replay some of the games with scores like 26-2 and 20-9. They sound more like bad football games. Instead, the highlight of the season would be more appropriate to reproduce. This game against Kents Hill on their Parents' Day showed us how good we could be. Neil Jaeger pitched a two-hit game with both runs unearned. He was backed up by steady fielding and fine hitting with Gould coming out on top against a team to which we had already lost 10-2.

It always seemed that Gould was weak in one aspect of the game—hitting, fielding, or pitching. Sometimes it was all of these at once, but most of the time one aspect proved enough for our downfall. For instance, in the game against Notre Dame, Steve McDevitt pitched a fine one-hit ball game, but there was no hitting, so we managed to lose 1-0.

From a catcher's vantage point, I wish to make no real excuses for our season. There was no one player or players that stood out this season. More importantly the team stood out, and we all learned that success cannot be achieved by one individual but only by team effort.

If athletics are meant to be fun, then baseball for me and for the team was fun. I am most proud to have been part of the rebirth of Gould baseball and can see that rebirth as a part of growing up.

Softball

Well, we had quite the season, to say the least. Poor Dave Saggy, he started out promising us coke for errorless games, safe hitting, homeruns, and victories. Uncle Bear had already fired us up but this double inspiration must have made us do wonders. Saggy had to cut down the reward to homeruns alone or go bankrupt.

Anyway, we lost only two games and one was the second of a double header. (We were getting silly by that time. Right, Mississa?) That only made us beat the next team twice as bad.

It must have been hard for Mr. Berry with all those female coaches, but he kept with us. We almost lost a couple of the team here and there, though. Janie MIP Baker wanted to be a nun at Coburn, Molly wanted to enjoy her weekends (to Mr. Dolven's dismay) and Gallie was almost lost running around in the outfield. My hand broke every time Michelle MVP threw it home and Wendy most near lost her thumb once. Tib complained of acute boredom in left field. Mind Control lured Steph away. And the self-appointed rejects were always in the audience somewhere. Captain Hatch and Uncle Bear pulled us through.

Two last thoughts: I never felt safer base running than when Renetta was coaching third. I never felt prouder than when I watched Mr. Berry grin away when we were ten runs ahead.

If there had been a league trophy, we would have gotten it for you, Coach.

This year the tennis team had many interested in it, but the top four seats were still held by last year's players.

The season started out slowly with losses to Hebron and Hyde, and with a comeback victory over Hinckley. Then, to our surprise, Kents Hill beat us. All these matches took place at Gould.

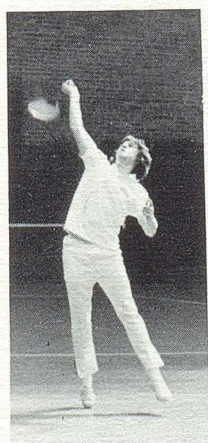

Then it was time to start our traveling to other schools. Our first away meet was with Coburn but they canceled. We next went on to Hyde, and again they beat us in a well-played match. Now it was time again to play Kents Hill. We arrived at their war-torn courts with fifty-mile-an-hour winds; and, with a good fight, beat them.

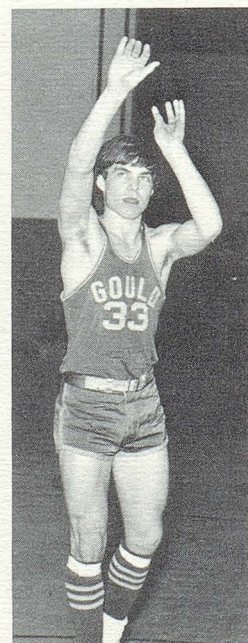

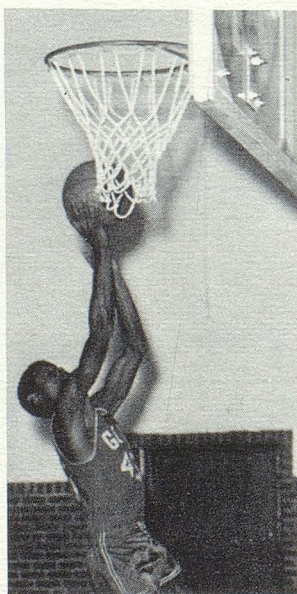

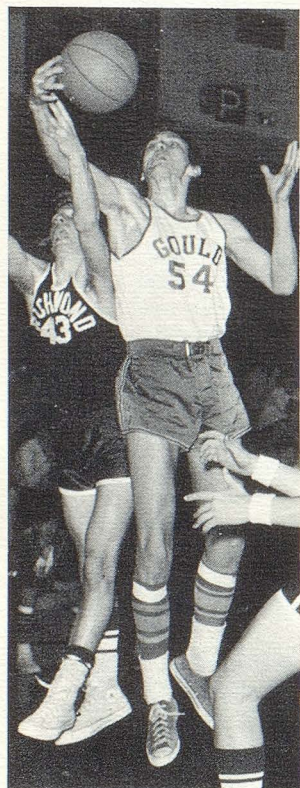

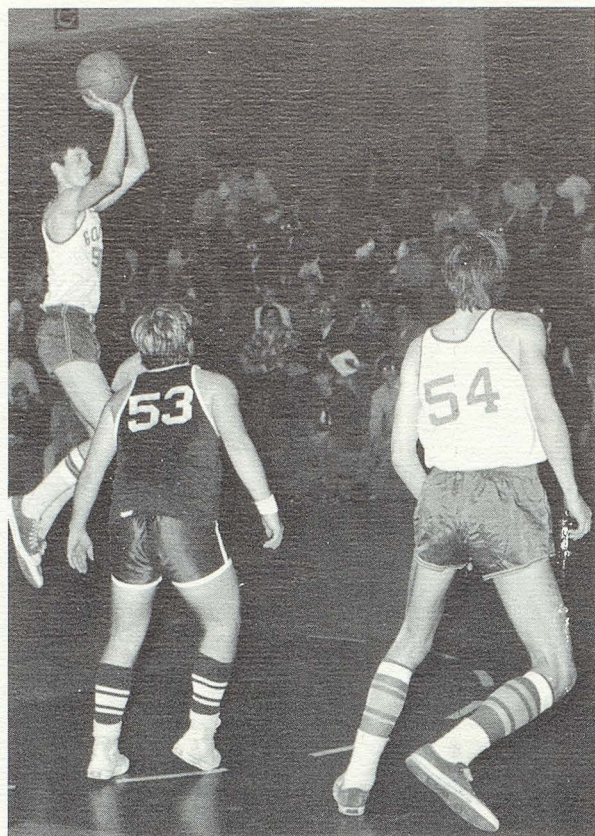

Back at home again we played Waynelete and had an easy victory. Next in our line was the State Prep-School Championship. Rick Ross and Bill Hawk played for Gould in the singles. Our doubles team consisted of Stewart Epstein and Tom Hunt. Bill Hawk was beaten in the first round, but Rick Ross made it to the semi-finals. In the doubles, Stewart Epstein and Tom Hunt made it to the finals but lost to Hebron. Gould finished second in the State.

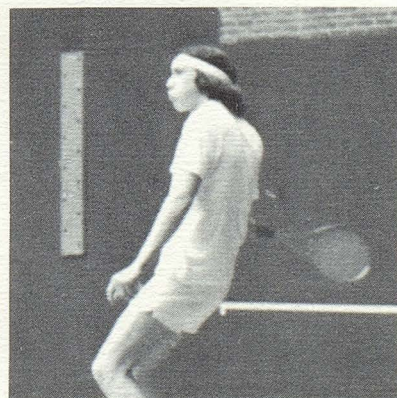

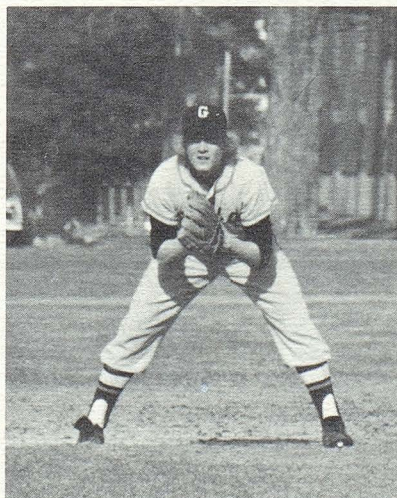

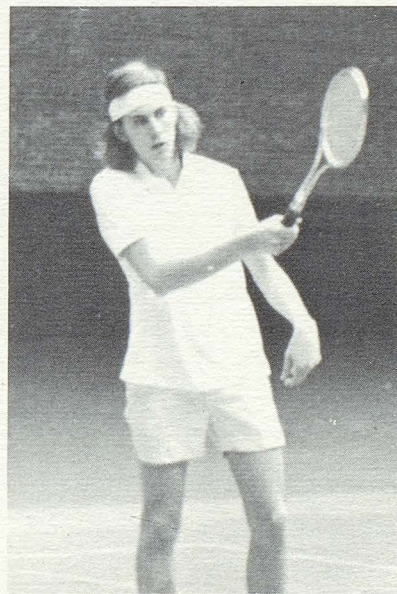

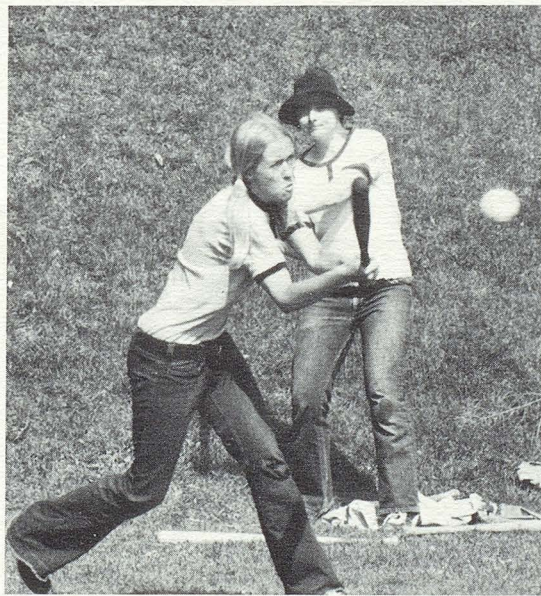

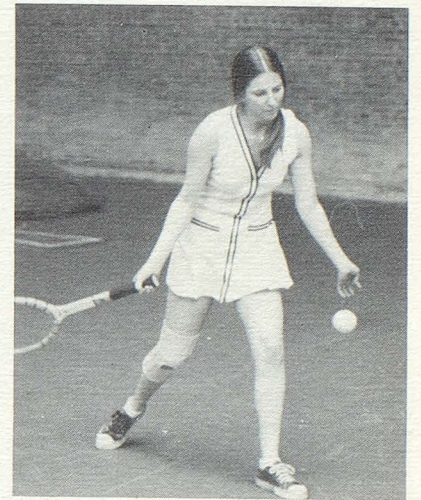

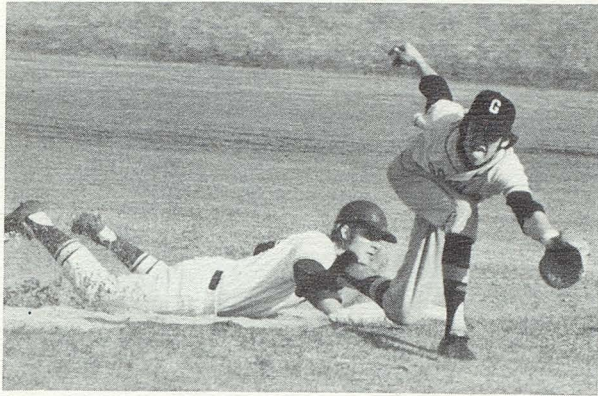

After the State meet, we again played Coburn, but again they canceled. Then we had an easy victory over Bridgton. Our last match was with Berwick but they also canceled.

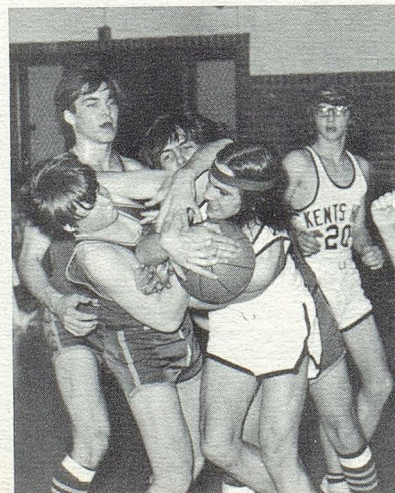

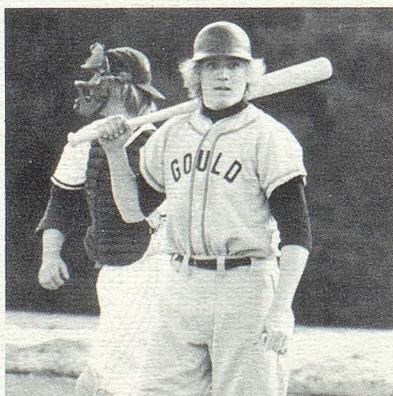

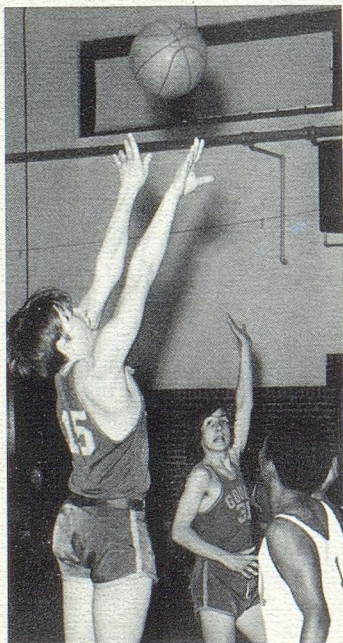

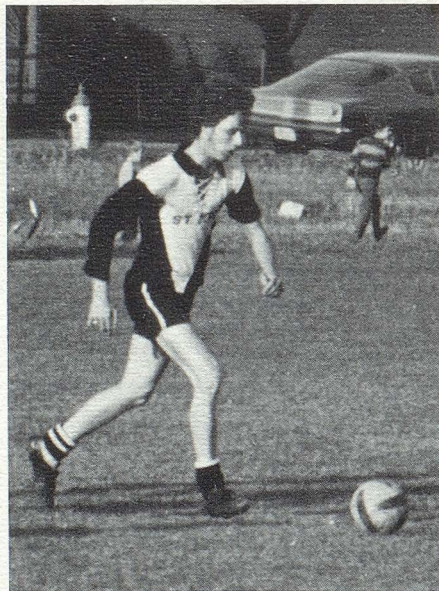

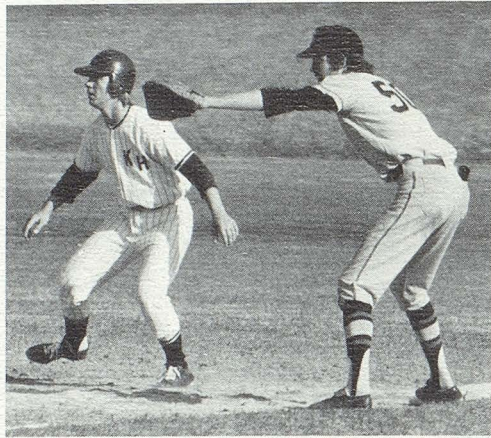

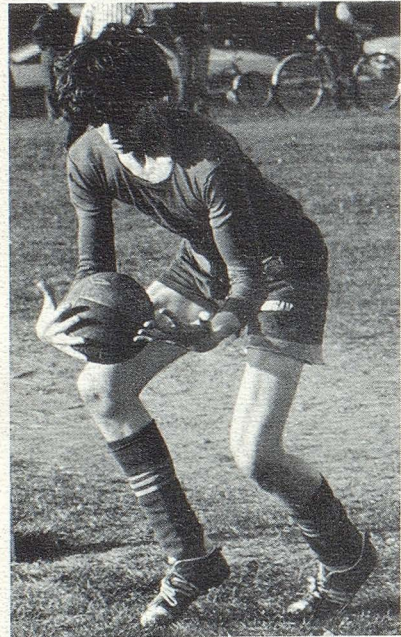

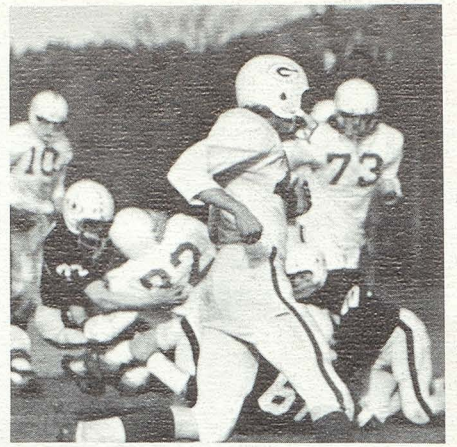

This year's MVP was Rick Ross; MIP, Tom Hunt; and captain, Bill Hawk. Under the coaching of Mr. Chandler, we had a fine season.

Is it standard procedure where students are graduating for he who delivers the Farewell Address to speak for himself and that graduating class, of the school which they are leaving and those past few years spent there? Must he always without thought describe those years as so rewarding and beneficial to the person he is now, and for that matter to all the persons in his class?

Is it to speak of those teachers who will never be forgotten . . . and leave out those who will?

Perhaps it is to address only the graduating class and try in a few minutes to explain what should have been experienced here already about this "world-beyond" they are stepping into.

If there is any tradition at all to valedictory speeches, here is change. Meet it, understand it, dig it if you can. What I say now is not a rerun of things I have seen or heard thru tradition, but a compilation of things I have experienced here thru virtue.

A philosopher once said, "The measure you give will be the measure you get. First take the log out of your eye, and then you will see clearly to take the speck out of your brother's eye."

I question the sizes of logs in the eyes of man today. To you who are so aware that I am different, to you who fidget in your seats while looking at the darkest commencement speaker in the history of Gould Academy, consider your feelings and then remove your logs and understand change again.

To the James T. Moneybags and Simon Conservatives who look at their nieces and nephews in the graduating class and all over with disgust—because their hair is longer than yours was when you were graduating, and the only thing smoked then in the bathroom was tobacco—remove your logs and understand how you will understand. How will you understand? How will you know? Should all those over 60 wear a dashiki and smoke a joint, let it all hang out for '72? Then all those under 20 should get a job from nine to five and break their back working to the head of the company for six T.V.'s, seven Eldorados and a piece of the Rock.

Then would you understand, then would you know? And how would it get together?

Minds tend to get stale and conditioned being cooped up in the same place for long periods of time, so three brothers set out on bicycles across the states freeing their bodies and minds from their normal routines of life that they might better understand this task of getting it together by better seeing both "America the Beautiful" and America the ugly.

Twelve hundred miles had been biked in eight days and much had been learned about "what's going on" and this thing called "getting it together." I was one of the three.

We had done much thinking and met very many nice people. Understand that I write this with awe because we had never experienced it. We were always aware though that there were those who would hurt us whenever a car would try to take us off the road. We would correlate this bad with good, thinking of love, hate, and hurt, feeling it exist, and feeling it dissipate in the joy of meeting the good people that we had, and caring for ourselves and each other. We bicycled for hours with a high on life, wishing we could bottle the feeling. We would tremble at night in the cold and look at ourselves, and dig on an emotion known as fear. We would dig on the effect it had and the feeling in our stomachs. We would question the source of the fear and listen to the noises. We would think of the God we had just thanked for the biscuits we had just eaten, for His protection during the day and for a place to lay our sleeping bags.

We would think about college and on up the line, about the past, ourselves and the world. Periodically we would look at the trees, lakes, and rivers for a long time and wish that there was someone there to share it with.

Thoughts would come of getting away from it all and just living out there with all that beauty, but other thoughts would come of things that aren't so beautiful . . . brothers who are dying in a war, and life support systems that are being killed off. The people with the power would use it to examine rocks that they collect on the moon.

The revolutionists would revolt to change this thing, and the junkies would shoot up to escape this thing. Dick, Jane, and Sally will soon be smoking reefers, and all the "Right On" things of '68 are past.

We would think of the small things we could do and we would pray that this beauty would remain long enough that after we had done all we could, we could return maybe again to dig and appreciate as we did then.

Above all else we had learned, deep within ourselves, about this thing called "getting it together."

Something of this nature you may have heard before and much of it may have bored you to death about the odyssey of three cats bicycling across the country. It does not matter to impress you with deep thoughts or slick words. If one of you could only understand, then it was cool. This is what I have experienced . . . this is what I leave behind.

To all of you present here, dig on the time. This is the graduation of '72. Soon, it's got to get together or logs and specks won't make a difference any more, and I'll be one of the last commencement speakers you'll ever hear.

To: Mr. Dolven, members of the Board of Trustees, members of the faculty, honored guests, fellow classmates, brothers and sisters . . . Peace!

—Jack Milligan
